The Quarterly Newsletter of the Virginia Council of Chapters of the Military Officers Association of America

Our Third Council Crier for 2022 tells the story of a highly engaged Virginia Council and Member Chapters with the Legislative Advocacy and Community Service prime examples of such engagement.

To Federal Advocacy, Virginia Delegation Co-Sponsors for The Major Richard Star Act now numbers 13. The bill allows a veteran with a combat-related disability and fewer than 20 years of creditable service to receive retirement pay, without reduction, concurrent with disability compensation. The credit for the increased support of the Star Act by our Delegation rests with the advocacy our Chapter Presidents this year.

To State Legislative Affairs, Governor Glen Youngkin signed two bills this year of great significance to the Virginia Veteran. First, House Bill 957, patroned by Delegate Kathy Tran (D 42nd), which provides local governments the opportunity to offer tax relief for surviving spouses of a member of the Armed Services. Second, Senate Bill 528, patroned by Senator Bryce Reeves, R-Spotsylvania, and House Bill 1128, patroned by Delegate John McGuire, R-Goochland. The bills commence a state income tax deduction for military retirement income for veterans age 55 and older, phased-in rate of $10,000 in tax year 2022, $20,000 in tax year 2023, $30,000 in tax year 2024, moving to $40,000 in the taxable year 2025.

The aforementioned bills remain living testimony to the advocacy efforts of the Joint Leadership Council, for which VCOC Third Vice President COL Monti Zimmerman, USAF (Ret) is Vice Chair. To HB 529, COL Zimmerman will continue work on a Constitutional Amendment, mandating county compliance with the Bill.

MOAA Advocacy in Action 2023 (AiA 2023) is scheduled for April 2023. AiA 2023 will be in person, Capitol Hill, Washington, DC. Standby for further details, to include specific AiA 2023 topics and schedule.

The 2023 Virginia General Assembly is scheduled to open on Sunday, January 8, concluding on Friday, February 24 (adjournment sine die is Saturday, February 25). Joint Leadership Council approved Legislative Initiatives, as of September 15, 2022, may be viewed at: Joint Leadership Council. To our VCOC advocacy with the General assembly in 2023, COL Zimmerman has scheduled a Zoom Virtual Legislative Affairs Pre meeting for all Chapter Legislative Affairs Representatives, Monday, 19 December, 9:00am.

I would like to personally thank MOAA General Counsel and Corporate Secretary Maj. Gen. Joe Lynch, USAF (Ret) and MOAA Vice President, Council/Chapter Affairs CAPT Jim Carman, USN (Ret) for hosting me for lunch at the Army Navy Club, DC, The purpose of the lunches was threefold: fact finding, ask questions and share ideas.

During our fellowship together, Maj. Gen. Lynch spotlighted his creation of the well known Time Magazine “Person of the Year” display, which rests on the bottom level of the Army Navy Club in DC. An honor to be hosted by Maj. Gen Lynch and CAPT Carman at the storied ANC, where, based on my MOAA Life Membership, I have been a member now since 2011.

Over to VCOC Chapter visits, our VCOC Team visited with the Mt. Vernon and Falcon’s Landing Chapters in October. Many thanks to Chapter Presidents COL Smash Yurovich, USMC (Ret) and COL Phil Walsh, USMC (Ret) for the opportunity to be “On Deck” with our members.

MOAA Announces New President/ CEO and Board Chairman

The Military Officers Association of America (MOAA) is proud to announce its new president and CEO, Lt. Gen. Brian T. Kelly, USAF (Ret), and new board chairman, Gen. Gary L. North, USAF (Ret), along with 12 newly elected members of its board of directors.

Kelly will become MOAA's President and CEO on Jan. 4, 2023, leading the nation's largest and most influential association of military officers. Commissioned in 1988, Kelly concluded his military career this year after serving most recently as the Air Force deputy chief of staff of Manpower, Personnel and Services at the Pentagon. "I'm extremely excited and proud," Kelly said. "It's a fantastic organization. What MOAA has been able to do in terms of legislative advocacy is really second to none."

The following 12 individuals also have been elected to MOAA's 36-member board. They will serve a six-year term.

Cmdr. Stephen A. Bedard, USN (Ret) – President of Sailmaker, LLC and an adjunct professor at the College of Charleston. Served in the Navy Supply Corps as a staff member of the assistant secretary of the Navy for Research, Development and Acquisition.

Col. Myles B. Caggins III, USA – A senior fellow at The New Lines Institute for Strategy and Policy. Previously the U.S. Army Fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York. Served three combat tours in Iraq.

Lt. Col. Ronald J. Clark, USMC (Ret) – Former Deputy Under Secretary at the Department of Homeland Security and former Senior Director for Defense Policy on the National Security Council in the White House. Retired infantry and force reconnaissance officer. Currently the Chief Executive Officer of Spartan Strategy & Risk Management.

Col. Stephanie E. Dawson, USA (Ret) – Former deputy commander and commander of the 369th Sustainment Brigade, and deputy commander of the 53rd Troop Command for the New York National Guard. In her civilian career, her role included Chief Operating Officer of the bi-state Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

Adm. James G. Foggo, USN (Ret) – Former commander of U.S. Naval Forces Europe and Naval Forces Africa, and U.S. Sixth Fleet. Served as dean of the Center for Maritime Strategy at the Navy League and member of the board of directors of the Olmsted Foundation, the Naval Historical Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations.

Lt. Cmdr. E. Fred Green Jr., USN (Ret) – President of the MOAA California Council of Chapters. Over 20 years active and reserve service in a variety of surface warfare positions at sea and ashore.

Rear Adm. Nancy A. Hann, NOAA – Director of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Commissioned Corps and Office of Marine and Aviation Operations. She holds two master's degrees, one in aeronautical science and the other in public administration.

Maj. Sharron A. Mackey, USAF (Ret) – Served in the Air Force, Air National Guard, and Air Force Reserve. She has more than 30 years of leadership experience in health care, ensuring access to high quality care. She worked directly on building provider networks for veterans with TRICARE. Holds master's degrees in public administration and health service management.

Vice Adm. Fred M. Midgette, USCG (Ret) – Defense industry consultant and served in a variety of positions in the Coast Guard including Pacific Area Commander and Commander, Defense Forces West; Deputy Commandant for Operations; and 9th Coast Guard District Commander.

Maj. Gen. Stephen W. Oliver Jr., USAF (Ret) – International and defense policy researcher for the RAND Corporation. Former senior military assistant to the Secretary of the Air Force and Assistant Deputy Under Secretary of the Air Force, International Affairs.

Brig. Gen. Robert P. Palmer, USAFR – Senior vice president of Government Relations for WPS Health Solutions. Served as Chief of Strategic Communications for the National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve, deputy director of Legislative Affairs for NORAD and U.S. Northern Command, and director of Public Affairs for Air Force Reserve Command.

Capt. W.G. “Bud” Schneeweis, USCG (Ret) – Former MOAA Director of Benefits Information and Financial Education and a former director of the Military Financial Readiness Project, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. Served as chief of Coast Guard Public Affairs and commander of Coast Guard Recruiting.

Message from MOAA President and Chief Executive Officer Lt. Gen. Dana Atkins, USAF, (Ret)

“As I approach retirement from MOAA, I want to take the opportunity to say Thank You to all our surviving spouses . As the years pass, I will always reflect on both the personal friendships and strength of your collective advocacy that made so much difference in the lives of everyone – active duty – retired – and survivors. It will be hard to eclipse the monumental effort of repealing SBP/DIC (Widow’s Tax) and the many personalities within your collective Surviving Spouse ranks that brokered that legislative success. Through the lens of MOAA you all have grown in numbers and advocacy success. From auxiliary membership to full voting members—from an advisory council to positions on our national board—from a loose federation of survivors to the introduction of a robust virtual chapter. Your social media presence has been an instrument providing counsel, guidance, support, and fellowship to so many who need you as they navigate the changes and uncertainties in their future. It’s simply hard not to smile when I think of our Surviving Spouses and how much they mean to me personally, to MOAA, and to the many surviving spouses who both need and depend on your caring, compassion and wisdom. Although I am retiring from my position as President and CEO of MOAA I will endeavor to stay connected—I need you more than you need me.

God bless.

Lt Gen (ret) Dana “DT” Atkins”

Legal Corner

COL Vince Cammarata, USA (Ret)
VCOC Legal Committee Chair

A question that regularly comes up is; “What structure is the Virginia Council of Chapters, Military Officers Association of America” (VCOC) and is it the same as the Military Officers Association of America with headquarters in Alexandria, Virginia? Short answer is yes and no! What?

Lets start at the beginning:

The Virginia Council of Chapters, The Retired Officers Association, Inc. was initially formed on April 3rd, 1987. According to Virginia State Corporation Commission records, on March 1st, 2003 the Commission approved a requested name change, and issued a formal Articles of Amendment on March 27th, 2003 with the new official name: Virginia Council of Chapters, Military Officers Association of America.

The Virginia Council of Chapters, Military Officers Association of America is an independent, nonstock corporation, licensed to do business in the Commonwealth of Virginia that must have its license renewed annually, and submit an Annual Report of its directors to the Virginia State Corporation Commission. The Virginia Council of Chapters, Military Officers Association of America is governed by its own set of approved By-Laws (voted and approved by the Chapter membership). These By-Laws are very similar to a company's Operating Agreement to shed some perspective. When issues come up from time to time, that are not be specifically spelled out and covered in the Chapter By-Laws, that matter/issue shall be governed under the Virginia Code of Virginia statues; Section 13-1 and its sub-sections. In fact, all Military Officers Association of America Chapters throughout the United States are independent, licensed organizations, each with their own set of operating By-Laws, rules and regulations.

Virginia Council of Chapters, Military Officers Association as a Chapter Organization.

A chapter-based organization is any organization that has branches in multiple areas and shares the same mission. This can include a variety of organizations, from sororities to professional associations to nonprofits, and they can be national, state-wide or regional.

Multichapter nonprofit organizations operate similarly to franchised businesses — which, if you've ever been to Dairy Queen or Denny's, you've experienced firsthand. Just like a for-profit business, the parent organization will copyright its name and create a licensing agreement with the chapter, who will then work to carry out its mission, find new members, and other day-to-day operations.

For the most part, chapter organizations are established under the umbrella of the parent organization. They will have their own board, and operate independently, while remaining their own entity. However, depending on the organization, the parent organization will want to have more or less say in the way these Chapter activities are handled.

Remember, since the parent organization takes on considerable legal liability for the affiliating Chapters, it's understandable that they would insist on adherence to their standards, mission and overall agendas.

I hope you found this short article informational, and if you have any questions, please contact me directly.....Vince Cammarata.

VCOC Chaplain

We are in the season of multiple celebrations, both secular and religious. Thinking about what I enjoy most about such holidays finds me focused on food and fellowship. You also may find food an important component of your celebrations. Childhood memories are filled with reflections on the food we ate for these events. My home brought three generations and ten people to the dinner table every day. Holiday meals like Thanksgiving often involved more relatives from out of town. These celebrations and fellowship were great to share. Holiday celebrations in the Army always featured special treats by the capable staff of our unit Mess Halls. The fellowship included the much larger family of young men and women from across America. Great times, all of them. One thing about the meals at home or in the Army was that amidst the variety of food before us, there was no pressure to try everything. The food I liked, I ate, The new offerings I could choose to try or not. (Sometimes I discovered I liked them) A few items I simply passed.

Reflecting on food and fellowship helps me think about organizations like MOAA to which I belong. I can use this food menu idea for other organizations as well, like churches and other volunteer associations. Our chapters have a significant “To Do” list often driven by MOAA national. We personalize the list with things important locally. Some things on the list we like. Others may not be so, I suspect there may be something on the list we manage to skip. But we do this all in the joy of sharing together in a common concern to improve the lives of those who wear the various uniforms of our nation and their families,

As we approach a new year and the arrival of a new CEO for MOAA, and often new chapter leadership, we might see some changes to our chapter menu. Strategic plans and various initiatives as well as some basic survival issues for chapters will face us in the New Year. I wonder if the idea of food for celebrations can help us as a chapter, Council and national MOAA work together to enjoy the choices and celebrate the fellowship that binds us together.

The bottom line is this. We continue to see the challenges facing us to make MOAA at all levels stronger and more effective. Like the food on a buffet, some things we like, others are new and we might try them, and other things we just skip. May we enter the New Year ready to fill up our plates with the good things about MOAA and just maybe, try something new as well. And may we invite others to join us at the table. Happy holidays to you. May you enjoy the food and fellowship in these waning days of 2022.

VCOC Homepage

In reminder, the VCOC homepage VCOC Homepage presents six primary sections: About Us, Chapters, Meetings and Resources, Crier Newsletter, Legislative Affairs and Contact Us.

The purpose of the homepage is fourfold. First, provide an online platform to assist in ensuring the longterm viability of VCOC. Second, further grow the MOAA brand in Virginia. Third, provide a platform for VCOC chapter involvement and recognition. Finally, provide an improved call to action to VCOC membership, encouraging website visitors to multiple actions, such as joining a MOAA chapter.

To the aforementioned, chapter stories are most welcome for posting to the VCOC Homepage in an ongoing basis. Contact VCOC Webmaster CDR Linc Smith, USNR (Ret) at mvng288@aol.com with any stories or announcements that you may have.

Council And Chapter Awards

MOAA Levels of Excellence Award: Each year, councils and chapters may request to be recognized for one of two Levels of Excellence awards. Councils and chapters that want to be considered for Levels of Excellence Awards. Levels of Excellence Award need to submit a nomination by May 1.

A standard set of rating criteria will be used to evaluate all councils and chapters that submit a package. Last year, 162 councils and chapters earned 5-star awards. Your council or chapter could be among the winners recognized at a dinner in Kansas City later this year.

Col. Marvin J. Harris Communications Awards: MOAA's annual contest identifying those councils and chapters that do an outstanding job communicating with their members.

Col Steve Strobridge Award for Advocacy:

Council: Col Michael Kelly, USAF (Ret), Kansas State Legislative Liaison, Kansas.

Council of Chapters Chapter: Dr. Ron Sarg (posthumously), formerly Legislative Chair, Dover (Del.) Chapter.

2021 Surviving Spouse Liaison Excellence Award: Surviving Spouse Liaisons work at the Council and Chapter level to ensure fellow survivors remain connected to the military family and participate in local and national programs and advocacy efforts.

MOAA ROTC/JROTC Awards Program: MOAA has PDF fillable certificates for ROTC and JROTC available for leaders to add their chapter name and the name of the award recipient.

ROTC and JROTC fillable PDF certificates, click here: MOAA Certificates of Recognition and Pins

Medals and certificates can be purchased at the MOAA Store. Note for high schools and universities requesting that someone from MOAA make a presentation: If there is a local MOAA chapter in your area, you may want to consider contacting them. Many of our 400-plus MOAA affiliates are still supporting ROTC/JROTC programs in their area. These programs are entirely voluntary; no MOAA chapter is under any obligation to present a certificate to ROTC and JROTC units. You can use the Chapter Locator to find your closest available chapter.

2023 Community Outreach Grant Cycle Begins Dec 1, 2022

Next month, The MOAA Foundation will start accepting applications for its 2023 Community Outreach Grants. Grants of up to $5,000 are offered to MOAA councils or chapters providing services to local military and veteran families — either directly or through partnerships with other community organizations — in one of 10 areas of critical military and veteran family need: housing, food assistance, employment, health (including behavioral health), family strength, community reintegration, financial assistance, legal assistance, transportation, and emergency relief. The application website and grant criteria can be found here: Community Outreach Grant Application

MOAA Guidance On Partisan Political Activities

Partisan Political Activities: As organizations exempt from federal taxation under Sec. 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code, MOAA and its affiliates must take care to avoid engaging in partisan political activities. Under IRS rules, we are prohibited from directly or indirectly participating in, or intervening in, any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office.

Candidates for Public Office: A candidate for public office is an individual who offers himself or herself, or is proposed by others, as a contestant for an elective public office, whether such office is national, state, or local, and includes incumbent candidates. The prohibition also extends beyond declared candidates and may apply to efforts to recruit an individual to run for office or advance exploratory activities. The prohibition also applies to advocating for the platform of one political party over another.

Prohibited Activities: Activities which constitute participation or intervention in a political campaign on behalf of or in opposition to a candidate include, but are not limited to, the publication or distribution of written or printed statements or the making of oral statements on behalf of or in opposition to such a candidate. It is clear that the prohibition on partisan political activity prohibits such outright actions such as posting a “Vote for Biden” or “Vote for Trump” on the organization’s website, or “Support Republican Candidates” or “Vote Democratic.”

In addition to these obvious examples, the prohibition goes well beyond direct expressions of support. In determining whether an organization is engaged in unlawful partisan political activities, the IRS applies a “facts and circumstances” test. The IRS looks not only to the expressed language, but to external factors, such as the communication’s timing, its targeted audience, and how the message relates to public policy positions that distinguish a candidate in a campaign.

Consequences for Violations: The consequences to an organization that violates the prohibition on partisan political activity can be severe including the loss of its tax exempt status and the imposition of certain excise taxes. For public charities, like The MOAA Foundation and the MOAA Scholarship Fund, the IRS can disallow tax deductions for charitable contributions. In addition, for an organization whose mission involves advocacy on key military community issues, MOAA must seek support from elected representatives from both parties. Engaging in partisan political activities on behalf of one party or candidate would seriously undermine MOAA’s ability to achieve the bipartisan consensus on key issues essential to achieving its legislative objectives.

Personal Opinions: As individuals, members and leaders of MOAA and MOAA’s affiliates are not prohibited from engaging in partisan political activities so long as they do so in way that makes it clear they are acting for themselves and do not appear to be speaking on behalf of MOAA or its affiliates. For example, it is permissible for an individual to express his or her personal preference in support of or in opposition to a candidate or political party. And they may do so publicly. However, when expressing their personal opinions or preferences, they may not make reference to their MOAA position, use MOAA communications channels, use MOAA letterhead or newsletters, identify themselves as MOAA leaders, or imply that MOAA or its members share their beliefs.
